C. Use of Language

1. Mediation: Cliff dwellings

- ▶ Du [Deutsch]: Die Felsenwohnungen sind bemerkenswerte Beispiele für die Architektur und das Erbe der Ureinwohner Amerikas.
- ▶ Du [Englisch]: Could you tell us more about it?
- ▶ Du [Deutsch]: Die Felsenwohnungen wurden hauptsächlich von den Anasazi bereits im 12. Jahrhundert gebaut. Ihre Größe reichte von kleinen Einzimmerkammern bis zu Dörfern mit 150 Räumen.

- ▶ Du [Englisch]: Can we enter the cliff dwellings?
- ▶ Du [Deutsch]: Ja, es gibt eine Tour, auf der man eine Felswand über mehrere hohe Leitern erklimmt und sich durch enge Tunnel auf Händen und Knien hindurchzwängt. (1) Die Tour heißt „Balcony House“. Es ist sicherlich eine der abenteuerlichsten Touren hier. Sie ist nichts für schwache Nerven.
- ▶ Du [Englisch]: That's not the right thing for my father. / My father is afraid of heights. Is there another option?
- ▶ Du [Deutsch]: Es gibt eine kürzere Tour. Man kann die Felsenwohnungen auch erkunden, ohne über hohe Leitern klettern zu müssen.
- ▶ Du [Englisch]: Where can we book the tour?
- ▶ Du [Deutsch]: Man bekommt die Eintrittskarten direkt im Besucherzentrum. Wir sollen uns beeilen, da die Tour sehr beliebt ist und oft frühzeitig ausgebucht ist.

D. Text Production

1. What is the story behind the picture?

Tom and his dad, Peter, were supposed to be working out together in the living room. It was Peter's idea to live a healthier lifestyle, and he convinced Tom, who was really taking it seriously. Tom was doing sit-ups, push-ups — sweat everywhere!

Peter, on the other hand, quickly decided that his plan was too exhausting. So he sat behind Tom, pretending to stretch and exercise, but he was actually watching funny videos on his phone. Every few seconds, he made fake "ugh!", "uff!" and "ah!" sounds so Tom wouldn't notice that he was cheating.

Before this, Peter had begged his son to get fit with him. Tom agreed, but now Peter was cheating! Tom felt tired but proud. Peter felt sneaky but clever.

After a while, Tom turned around and caught him. At first, he was annoyed and disappointed, but soon he started laughing. He said: "No more workouts, let's order a big pizza as a reward for our 'hard work!'"

2. Your future job

In the future, I want to work as a robotics engineer and train their AI. I think AI and robots will help people in many ways, like cleaning houses, taking care of the elderly, or even working on farms or in factories.

At my job, I will use advanced computers, 3D printers, and smart robots that can learn new tasks by themselves. A typical day at work will include designing new robots on my computer, testing them in the lab, and fixing any problems they have.

For this job, I need to be good at math and programming, but I also need to be creative and work well with my team. I think my job will be attractive because I can make life easier for people.

Free time will be very important because I will need to rest my mind and get new ideas. My company will have fun spaces like a game room and a garden where I can relax with my colleagues.
